At Franklin Energy Services, Tomas Alvarez is responsible for educating customers on energy efficiency and providing information about incentives and services available to them. He also makes recommendations to homeowners, landlords, and building owners for modifications to their electric and gas systems.

Tomas started at Franklin Energy in 2012 as a direct installer, where he was responsible for installing energy efficient equipment and products. He also introduced the customer to relevant incentive programs. In 2013, he was promoted to project coordinator, where he provided program support to ensure information was kept up to date and files were maintained and properly reviewed. In 2017 he became a project specialist, and most recently moved up to energy advisor.

In addition to promoting energy efficiency and working with customers, Tomas has played a vital role in the development of Franklin Energy's safety culture. As a technician in the field, he was an implementer of standard practice. He also acted as a safety coordinator from 2014 through 2016.

Over the seven years he has been with Franklin Energy, Tomas has enjoyed the way his job allows him to help others. He has also appreciated the growth of the industry and the opportunities that arise as technology develops.
